Re: Internet Service

Dear Anacla Citizens,

This notice is to make you aware of an internet service interruption on Thursday April 28th. The internet will temporarily be unavailable on this day to ensure a strong livestream broadcast of the Old Growth Summit at the House of Huu-ay-aht.

If you'd like to attend the Old Growth Summit in-person, please contact communications@huauyaht.org or call 250-723-0100 to add your name to the guest list.

If you have any questions or concerns, please contact me at 250-723-0100.

Thank you,

Connie Waddell
Executive Director

BE ČIMS AWARE

Bear sighted in upper Anacla behind the Huu-ay-aht Government Building. (Headed towards the river) April 13, 2022

It's SPRING! čims are now emerging from hibernation.

- Report all sightings and encounters to the RAPP line (1-877-952-7277). All reports are tracked so issues can be addressed before they escalate.
- Keep garbage, food and attractants (compost, fruit trees, barbecues) secure in čims-proof locations.
- Scare away čims in the community with lots of noise. It doesn't seem neighborly, but preventing čims from feeling at ease around humans keeps them safer in the long run.

STOP SIGN AND BACK THROAT SOUND

Guide to Reading and Pronunciation

The symbols that we can call stop signs and deep throat are usually pointed out by people the first time they see our writing system. What are those funny symbols? In fact, they are symbols from the International Phonetic Alphabet which have come to be used in our alphabet.

ʔ

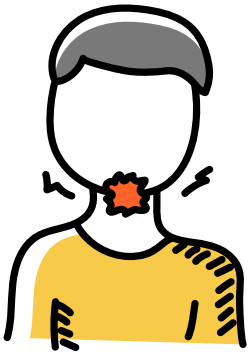

Stop sign is pronounced like the catch in the sound when we say "Oh!-Oh!" or like the sound that Cockney speakers have when they say "bo'l" instead of a bottle. Another word for this sound is glottal stop or glottal catch. Here are some examples of our words that have this sound in them;

yeʔisi - butter clam yuʔi - wind čaʔak - water

ʕ

Although it is not easy to hear, all of our words that seem to start with a vowel start with a stop sign. (Thus, there are no words in our language that start with a vowel! Since Stop Sign is a consonant, every word in our language starts with a consonant). Although you can't hear the stop sign at the beginning of words, it is plain to hear when the first part of words gets repeated.

ʔiiḥ - big ʔiiʔiiḥ - big ones ʔuʔusim - to want something

The back throat sound is also known as pharyngeal. That term refers to the place in the throat *the Pharynx) where this sound is made. Actually, one hears this sound primarily in terms of the effect that it has on the vowels around it. When one pronounces it, one can feel how one tightens the throat, though. Listen to these words which have pharyngeal in them.

ʕiniiƛ - dog ʕaƛ́uu - beaver ʕaʕiči - eyebrows ʕišii - ankle
