CRIME STOPPERS
CALL 713.222.TIPS

Crime threatens the well-being of our children, our families, and it tears apart our communities. Citizens can disrupt crime by sharing knowledge about criminal activities.
If you or someone else needs immediate police assistance, call 911.

- If you have information about criminal activity, and are not concerned about revealing your identity, call your local police non-emergency line

(Port Alberni and Anacla call 250-723-2424)

- If you have knowledge about a crime and want to remain anonymous, call Crime Stoppers at 1 (800) 222-8477.

By reporting crime, you are one of tens of thousands of people in BC who have helped to identify drug labs and dealers, catch wanted fugitives, solve arsons, thefts, and robberies, and apprehend criminals wanted for violent assaults and murders. One missing piece of the puzzle can make a difference. Aside from being the right thing to do, you may also be eligible for a reward for your tip information.
Crimestoppers wants your information – not your name!
If you are concerned about something that is happening in the community, you can make an anonymous call. For more info see bccrimestoppers.com
Stay safe, keep your family safe, keep your community safe.

HUU-AY-AHT FIRST NATION HOUSING UPDATE

The subdivision in Upper Anacla is nearing completion of the new CMHC funded units. These will be occupied over the next 2 months. Some vacancies have been created with current tenants moving into other units, and these are also being filled. All current and new tenants have been notified and all will be signing new rental agreements starting March 21, 2022.

Currently, there are no units available, but this may change with some vacancies coming up as people move to other locations or other housing circumstances. A housing list has been created for those interested in moving to Upper Anacla. With the financial assistance of BC Housing, the Nation is planning the construction of 8 new units in four-plex and two duplexes on Nookemus Road. To get on the housing list you will need to complete a housing application which is available on the website in the Housing section. Please note that these units will be filled based on need and having the right match of the size of the unit and the number of occupants, not on a “first come” basis.

FOR INQUIRIES, PLEASE CONTACT HOUSING AT RENTALHOUSING@HUUAYAHT.ORG
